Session 3

Designing a mind map

stages in designing a mind map:

- Read the topic carefully.
- Start brainstorming by examples and explanations.
- Create the process (main idea, explanation, example).
- Decide which side you can take.
- Develop mind map into ideas.
- Start writing.

What happens to my position

- There are two positions: strong and middle
- Once you have finished your mind map, pick the good ones and decide ultimately.

Strong	Middle view response
If I have 2/3 ideas from one side but only one from the other. This one argument should be rejected in my writing	I have some ideas from both sides. There is good development from each side and arguments against them are not really strong.

An Example

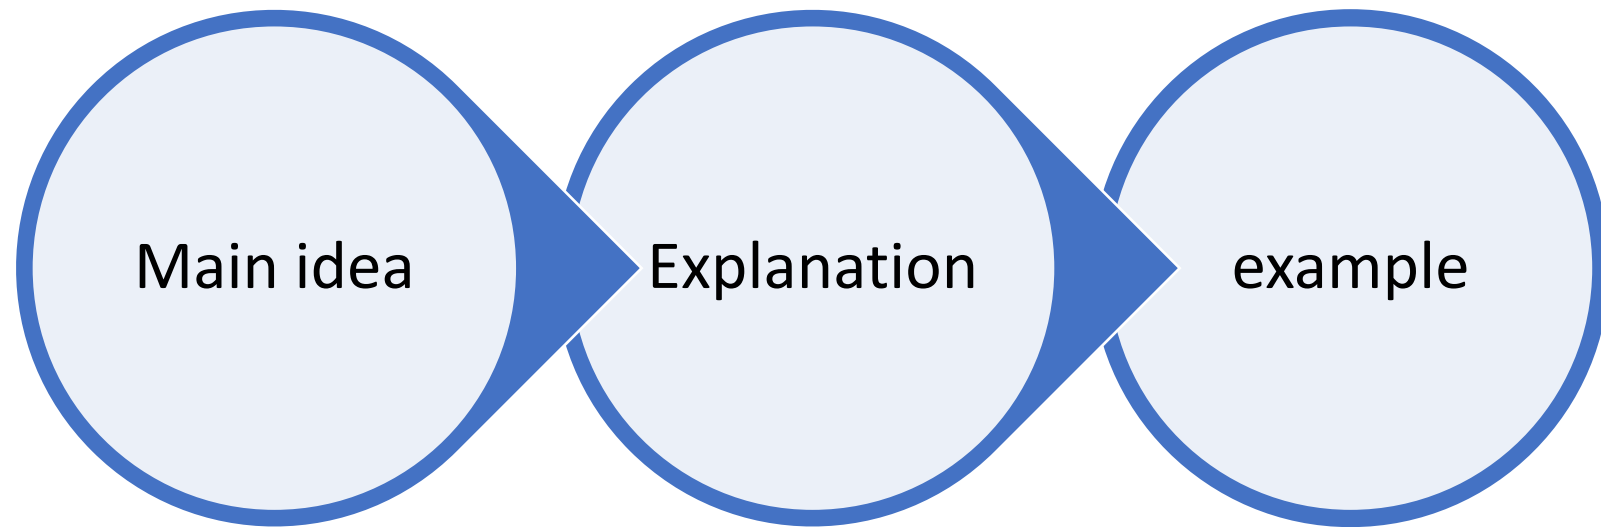

- In the future nobody will buy printed newspapers or books because they will be able to read everything they want online without paying.

To what extent do you agree or disagree with this statement.

Agree	disagree

Brainstorming with examples and explanations

Moving from one stage to other

- → (why, how, what, so)
- Electronic bs and NPs easy to use and reach → stored in i-clouds etc → the cost of manufacturing is removed → makes it cheaper

Also

Environmentally friendly → no paper is used to print → fewer trees are cut

Replacing → with connectives

In the beginning of a paragraph	Middle	End
Body paragraph 1 (nothing) Body P2 (moreover, on the other hand, however) A direct questions	Because of Which is/does ,Meaning that..... ,resulting in So as to	So In other words

IELTS 15- Test 2

Electronic books and newspapers have many advantages. They are easy to use and reach. They can be stored in computers, mobiles, e-readers and i-cloud in huge amounts and are available at any time. The cost of manufacturing and printing is completely removed, which reduced their price. Digital books and newspapers also have one very important advantage- they are environmentally friendly. No paper is used to print magazines and books, which means less trees are cut from our forests to produce papers. All of these factors convinced many people that digital versions of books and magazines is more convenient, ethical and cheaper choice.
